

UPON THE GEOGRAPHICAL EXPLORATIONS AND SURVEYS WEST OF THE ONE HUNDREDTH MERIDIAN

possibilities if what Mary says is true." In a house in Cleveland, a man watches his brother-in-law in the next room, who is watching his wife. He was large where Brother Hart was slim. He was fair where Brother Hart was dark. He was hairy where Brother Hart was smooth. And he was dressed in animal skins that hung from his shoulders to his feet. About the man leapt fawning wolves, some spotted like jackals, some tan and some white. He pushed them from him with a rough sweep of his hand. "Why not?" Singh and everyone else was silent for a while. He found he really was beginning to believe in the Martians. The theory seemed to cover a lot of otherwise inexplicable facts. "Without CB suppression there wouldn't be time to move any of the other platoons round to back you up. You'd be on your own," Sirocco said. "Never mind all that stuff. Just tell me what I'd enjoy reading." "Ideas . . ." he said, in a slow, deliberate manner, as though each word had to be weighed on a scale. "His gate's going to be a lot bigger than last night," Jain had said. "Can you handle it?" Upstart. The room had been cleaned with pine-oil disinfectant and smelled like a public toilet. Harry Spinner was on the floor behind the bed, scrunched down between it and the wall. The almost colorless chenille bedspread had been pulled askew exposing part of the clean, but dingy, sheet. All I could see of Harry was one leg poking over the edge of the bed. He wasn't wearing a shoe, only a faded brown-and-tan argyle sock with a hole in it. The sock, long bereft of any elasticity, was crumpled around his thin rusty ankle. When he reached the apron of the second stage, he strode across it and began ascending the second series of steps. We kept right on his heels. It was at this point that I noticed he was mumbling something under his breath. I listened hard, but I couldn't make out what it was. "The Detweiler Boy." "Well, that all sounds pretty ho-hum to me up against this," Song said. "Do you . . . do you realize . . . what are we talking about here? Evolution, or . . . or engineering? Is it the plants themselves that did this, or were they made to do it by whatever built them? Do you see what I'm talking about? I've felt funny about those wheels for a long time. I just won't believe they'd evolve naturally." Here Comes Mr. Jordan was a whimsical film fantasy of the 1940s about a boxer taken to Heaven before he was due; as compensation, he was redelivered into another man's body, with all sorts of supposedly humorous complications. I didn't think it was very funny then, and I didn't think it was very funny when it reappeared as Heaven Can Wait, though Warren Beatty did a nice job as the dumb athletic type (a football player now) and Dyan Cannon shrieked to great effect a couple of times. "stood, fidgety." "There's really not anything I can tell you. Why don't you ask David and Murray. They smashed it down on the thing. I dropped the chair and leaned against the wall and heaved.
