Jay nodded and pointed to the view of one of Chiron's moons, which was showing between the clouds up near one of the corners. "That's Remus," he said. "The painting was done over a year ago, and if you look at it you can see that whoever painted it paid a lot of attention to detail. I spent a lot of time reading about this star system and its planets, and when I got to looking at Remus in this picture, I realized there was something funny about it." Jay's finger moved closer to indicate a smooth region of Remus's surface, sandwiched between two prominent darker features, probably large craters. ~I was sure that in the most recent pictures I'd looked at from the Chironian databank, those two craters are connected by another one, where this unbroken area is . . . a big one, several hundred miles across, When I checked, I found I was right-there's a huge crater right here, and it wasn't there a year ago." "There's a whole planet out there." "You don't mind, do you? Here . . . the way things are . . . it doesn't bother you. You're like Eve and Jerry." Although she knew he was trying to be understanding, she was unable to keep an edge out of her voice. "With a flyer up overhead, there's no way they'd be likely to get near anybody. But it's customary to go armed when you're not in places like Franklin... just in case." .could be a cover for low self esteem. "The Director alone has the prerogative to decide that," Fulmire told him coldly. "Brandy and milk," Micky said, and at once Leilani, who was not drinking coffee, suggested, "Milk." Geneva shifted position on the edge of the bed and took Micky into her arms. The great warmth of her. "I'm a painter," the painter said over his shoulder. "I like to see a paint job properly done. Why else would anyone do it?" He stepped back, surveyed his work with a critical eye, nodded to himself, and dropped the brush into a flap in his walking workshop, where a claw began spinning it in a solvent. "Anyhow, the people who live here fix plumbing, manage a bar in town, and one of them teaches the tuba. My plumbing sometimes needs fixing, I like a drink in town once in a while, and one day one of my kids might want to play the tuba. They fix faucets, I paint houses. What's so strange?" "Would you expect me to say so if it was?" Colman asked. -.Rickster's slightly slurred voice was further numbed by the cold treat: "You know what's a really good. With two types of component or anticomponent to choose from for each triplet, a triplet could comprise either three of a kind of one type, or two of one kind plus one of the other. In the latter case there were three possible permutations of every two-plus-one combination, which yielded the three color charges carried by quarks. The three-of-a-kind combinations could be arranged in only one way and corresponded to leptons, which was why leptons could not carry a color charge and did not react to the strong nuclear force. Only anger had kept her going, and until recently she'd been reluctant to let it go. He didn't think too much about things like that anymore; his visions of being a great leader and achiever in bringing the Word to Chiron had faded over the years. And instead . . . what? Now that the ship was almost there, he found he had no clear idea of what he wanted to do . . . nothing apart from continuing to live the kind of life that he had long ago settled down to as routine, but in different surroundings. "Were they ever there?" Leilani asked again. Despite having worked under him for several years, Fallows had never been able to master the art of feeling at ease in Merrick's presence. Displays of undue familiarity were hardly to be expected between echelon-six and echelon-four personnel, naturally, but even allowing for that, Fallows always found himself in acute discomfort within seconds of entering a room with Merrick in it, especially when nobody else was present. This time he wouldn't let it happen, he had resolved for the umpteenth time back in the corridor. This time he would be rational about how irrational the whole thing was and refused to be intimidated by his own imagination. Merrick had not singled him out as any special object of his disdain. He behaved that way with everybody. It didn't mean anything. .the advertising copy on boxes of cornflakes, or in the patterns made by flocks of birds in flight. "When did I say that?" "But modesty and self-effacement aren't the same thing either." Music began playing, the crowd dispersed back to the bar and tables, and conversations started to pick up again. Colman and his companions went back upstairs, and Driscoll collected another round of drinks from the bar while the others sat where they had been earlier. They talked for a while about the incident, agreed it was a bad thing to have happened, wondered what would come of it, and eventually changed the subject. "I had taught me the answer to the mystery. Dogs have talent . . . but no ambition." Bernard looked startled, but Kath seemed neither offended nor surprised. "I thought you might be," she said, nodding half to herself. "Nanook told me about that." She looked at Bernard. "We don't have a lot of time for secrets," she told him. "Farnhill says it's part of an exchange visit, but that's just a cover that he doesn't know we can see through because he's never asked us. They're reconnoitering this place in case they decide they want to take it over later. That's why your chief, Merrick, is with them--to assess whether your engineers could handle it. He's picked Waiters and Hoskins to put in here if the Directorate goes ahead with the idea." "The door at the farther end. This space is also a cooler, with perforated-metal storage shelves on both sides." "Do you want to get out of here alive?" Driscoll shrugged. "What would you stake?" "Long Johns instead of proper pants and a shirt isn't a reliable judge of who's not quite right." Chapter 24. "As long as you think of me as a handicapped waif, your pity doesn't allow you to be impolite. On the other hand, there's something for you here," the attendant noted as Jay was turning away. He reached beneath the counter and produced a small cardboard box with Jay's name scrawled on the outside. "Where both the brave and the foolish have gone before them, in ages past: boy and dog, dog and boy." In one sense, the nearness of those searching for him doesn't matter. The likelihood of his being "Okay, then what about human beings crossed with puppy dogs?" "Excuse me," he said to the bargain-basement Thor as the hammer arced high over the hood again, and "I will indeed. See you later." Hanlon left, and they heard him forming up the relief guard outside. Admiral Mark Slessor, who commanded the Mayflower II's crew, looked dubious. "I'm not so sure it's that simple." He rubbed his powerful, blue-shadowed chin. "We could be walking into anything. They've got fusion plants, orbital shuttles, intercontinental jets, and planet-wide communications. How do we know they haven't been working on defense? They've got the know-how and the means. I can see John's point, but his approach is too risky." "What about when he was screwing the country?" "League." "It's my table, so I'll say grace my way, without editorial comment," Geneva declared. "And when I'm here to preserve the essential characteristics of the American System, life aboard the Mayflower II was organized under a civilian administration to which both the regular military command and the military-style crew organization were subordinated. The primary legislative body of this administration was the Supreme Directorate presided over by a Mission Director, who was elected to office every three years and responsible for nominating the Directorate's ten members. The term of office of the current Mission Director, Garfield Wellesley, would end with the completion of the voyage, when elections would be held to appoint officers of a restructured government more suitable for a planetary environment." "She had rudely presumed to monitor and restrict Micky's use of alcohol. Such meddling required oversight, and keeping your own name secret gives you more power still." "That's only the first door," Swyley reminded him, lowering the instrument from his eyes. "There are two of them. Whatever we do to that one won't stop them from closing the second one." Merrick regarded him coolly for a few seconds and still didn't seem very satisfied. "Well, all I can say is that not everyone shares your enviable faith in human nature--myself included, I might add. The official policy conveyed to me from the Directorate, which it is your duty as well as mine to support irrespective of our own personal views." "Spears also adorns one wall. With her deep cleavage, bared belly, and aggressive sparkling smile, she's." "Hi," the paunchy man greeted amiably. "I'm Clem. These are Carla and Hermann, and Francine and Boris. The big guy here is Cromwell, and the little lady up top is Amy. Well, I guess... welcome aboard." "I got the last one," Colman reminded them. Somehow the enthusiasm had gone out of the party. "They may be a handful," Adam added from across the room, "but they control the ship's heavy weapons. We've given them every chance, and we've encouraged as many people to get themselves out of it as was humanly possible. Our whole world is at stake. If they begin issuing threats or deploying those weapons, the ship will be destroyed. They can be no changing that decision. It was made a long time ago." "She's real protective," the boy assures him. "Provided each of 'em with a room and a boyfriend. Anyway, who knows where any of those guys are." Smuggling rocketed to epidemic proportions, and confiscation soon filled a warehouse with goods that officials dared not admit on to the market and didn't know what to do with after the Chironians declined a plea from a bemused excise official to take it all back. The Chironians outside Phoenix continued to satisfy every order or request for anything readily; Terran builders who had commenced work on a new residential complex were found magnificent, Ms. Donella. "Jay frowned and looked mildly uncomfortable. "Sex?" he hazarded. "To have the substance of a sword. Motorized, the lamp moves, and each time the slicing beam finds. The liquid-thick heat of the late-August sun pooled around Micky. She felt as though she were floating in." "What saith thee, young maiden, in the presence of Cleopatra?" "What does a Chironian computer print when you attempt illegal access?" one of them asked Colman when they had got into their joke repertoires. "He wants the coins, too, but he doesn't touch them. In his nervousness, he's likely to jingle or drop them." Micky returned the question, the girl's simple reply had been, "I better." "Lucky you feel that way," Donella replies, "because that's not actually a choice you have." "Stern watched, listened, and said nothing." "If you say so. Do I have a choice?" Curtis Hammond is a source of bitter envy, not because he has found peace in sleep, but because he is. Bernard, Pernak, and Jean stared at the picture for a long time. Pernak's eyes were very serious, and Jean began biting her lip apprehensively. At last Bernard nodded and looked at the other two. "Okay, I'm with you," he told them. "Most of the people making all the big speeches out there aren't equipped to handle this. I don't think Iberia matters too much one way or the other anymore, but we need to get Lechat in on it-and fast." "know why you can't, too, and that's all right." "Kneeling on the mattress, her mother bounced like a schoolgirl, making the springs sing and the bedrails. Jay sat at an empty booth while Colman collected two coffees from the counter, then inserted his Army pay-card into a slot. In a lot of ways Jay reminded Colman of himself when he was a lot younger. Colman had acquired his name from a professional couple who adopted him when he was eleven to provide company for their own son, Don, who was two years older. They hadn't wanted to disrupt their careers by having another child of their own. Colman's stepfather was a thermodynamics engineer involved with heat exchangers in magnetohydrodynamics systems, which accounted for Colman's early interest in technology. Although the Colmans had done their best to treat both boys equally, Steve resented Don's basic schooling and was jealous when Don went to college to study engineering, even though he himself had then been too young to do the 'same. The rebelliousness that had contributed to Steve's being placed in the home for wayward adolescents from which he had been adopted reappeared, resulting in his giving the couple some hard times, which upon reflection he felt bad about. For some reason that Steve didn't understand, he felt that if he could help Jay realize his potential and use the opportunities he had, it would make up for all that. Why, he didn't know, because nothing he did now could make any difference to the Colmans, who were probably old and gray somewhere, but he felt he owed it to them. People's minds worked like that. Minds could be very strange..Perhaps the girl was genuinely astonished by the concept of Preston Maddoc as a child molester. Or "Power. If you have enough power, you can bring even the richest men to their knees." Jay grinned, just a trifle sheepishly. "Er.. would you get mad if I asked Steve to come along too?" "would need the weapon. Nevertheless, he had no plans to remake it into a plowshare..her mouth and bake her for tomorrow's dinner- although they didn't express their concern in terms quite. After that brief moment of frenzy, the viper slithered loose of its own tangles and flowed swiftly across. Explorers opened for the boy, and he quickly slipped inside..spell, it resists his muscle and his mind..Jay drank some more of his coffee, stared at his cup in silence for what seemed a long time, then said without looking up, "I've been thinking on and off... you know, I think I'd like to get into the Army. What would be the best way of going about it?" "Well, it sure doesn't pay any money." Colman turned his head toward Hanlon. "What do you say, Bret?" "age, about the size of the night visitor who stands over him.." "Nine. But I'm precocious. What's your name?" "She was a danger to me in the yard, all that screaming about hag of a witch bitch and spellcasting and. Sinsemilla sat in bed, atop the toad-green polyester spread, reclining regally against a pile of pillows. She. Outside the confinement quarters in corridor 8E, two SD guards were standing rocklike and immobile when Driscoll appeared around the corner at the far end, wearing a steward's full uniform and pushing a trolley loaded high with dishes for the evening meal. Halfway along the corridor the trolley swerved slightly because of a recently loosened castor, but Driscoll corrected it and carried on to stop in front of the guards. One of them inspected his badge and nodded to the other, who turned to unlock the door. As Driscoll began to move the trolley, it swerved again and bumped into the nearest guard, causing the soup in a carelessly covered tureen to slop over the rim and spatter a few drops on the guard's uniform..In the late afternoon, they had boarded the auto transport in the immense parking lot of a busy truck. ebony accents, was a modified obelisk, not gracefully tapered like a standard obelisk, but of chunky.
