But he could not. He crawled in the dark till the sound of water was loud and the rocks. Very slowly they made him understand that one of the women was Anieb's mother, and that he should give Anieb to her to hold. He did so at last, watching to see if she was gentle with his friend and would protect her. Then he followed another woman meekly enough. He put on dry clothing she gave him to put on, and ate a little food she gave him to eat, and lay down on the pallet she led him to, and sobbed in weariness, and slept. "Like the Library of the Kings," said Crow, dreaming of lost glories. Diamond sat upright and still. He had been getting some of his father's height and girth lately, window, its door was cross-grained oak barred with iron, and spells had been laid on that door.
