Actually, critics can make educated guesses from time to time about the tastes of some groups of readers. Editors must, such judgments being their bread and butter?and look how often they fail. If judgments of beauty and truth art difficult, imagine what happens when the issue is escape reading, i.e., something as idiosyncratic as guided daydreams. Perhaps the popularity of series novels is due in part to readers* desire for a reliable, easily reproducible pleasure. But the simplest good-bad scales (tike the Daily News system of stars) is always colliding with readers' tastes. Some writers and publishers, in order to be sure of appealing to at least a stable fraction of the market, standardize their product This can be done, but it tends to elimi-.So they started back and by noon had nearly reached the ship. Now she must decide what to do. "Easily," said Amos. "I have red hair, I have freckles, I am five feet, seven inches tall, and I have." "Don't rub it in." "We had our first formal meeting with the Chinese yesterday, and we've already made our first official decision." He glanced at the replica of the star-robot probe again. "SP3 now has a name. It has been named after a goddess of Chinese mythology whom we have adopted as a fitting patroness: Kuan-yin--the goddess who brings children. Let us hope that she watches over her children well in the years to come." and neither of the individuals in question was particularly bright. Bright people wouldn't be so quixotic. The Detweiler Boy. "Free, hell." Jain grins. "Anybody who wants to catch the show can put a dollar in the slot." Having come round to a sensible, accepting attitude, she turned from the freezer to witness the effect of her outburst on the Morones, who looked elsewhere, and on Barry, who couldn't resist meeting her eyes head-on. Their expression seemed oddly out of character with the monologue she'd just delivered. They were piercing (as against vulnerable) steely-gray eyes that stared defiance from a face all sags and wrinkles. Without the contradiction of such eyes, her face would have seemed ruined and hopeless; with them, she looked just like an ancient centurion in a movie about the Roman Empire. Get Out of My Way! Get Out of My Way!, HARRY HARRISON. . . , and so, the soft grey voice went on, "I need someone clever and brave enough to help my nearest and dearest friend and me.
